generated@wave hill*June 11-October 31, Grounds

Nina Katchadourian's Please, Please, Pleased to Meet'cha sharpens the sense of hearing and spotlights the songs of resident and migrating birds. Visitors will be made aware of these birds through a series of sound recordings of human voices speaking transliterated bird calls. The New York City Audubon Society is collaborating with Wave Hill on a series of public programs from May through October.

Garden ImprovementJune 11-August 27, Glyndor Gallery & grounds, Reception: June 11, 1-4PM

To many visitors Wave Hill is a utopian garden, a place to seek ideas and inspiration for their own homes. Garden Improvement offers an alternate view of the relationship between people and nature by looking at how a garden is made more inhabitable, personal, and domesticated. The exhibition will include idiosyncratic, humble, do-it-yourself ideas born from artists' spirit of invention, rather than by design. Joan Bankemper, Karen Rich Beall, Jimbo Blachly & Lytle Shaw, Laure Drogoul, Charles Goldman, Paula Hayes, Marguerite Kahrl & Paul Ruff, Catarina Leitão, Cassandra Lozano, Philip Ross, Rachel Selekman, Austin Thomas and Andy Yoder.

Transplant–TranscultureSeptember 10–December 10, Glyndor Gallery

Just as plants migrate, so do people, bringing an affinity for flora and landscape with them. Transplant – Transculture explores ways that plants signify a deep connection to home through paintings, prints, photographs, drawings, video, sculpture and installations by artists from diverse backgrounds. Tomie Arai, Sandra A. M Bell, Maria Magdalena Campos-Pons, Cui Fei, Nicolás Dumit Estévez, Ming Fay, Nancy Friedemann, Skowmon Hastanan, Jung Hyang Kim, Lin Yan, Miguel Luciano. Raymond Saá, Julio Valdez and Zhang Hongtu

Celebrating Winter through Nature

November 24, 2006–January 8, 2007, Wave Hill House
